

AMENDMENTS TO THE SPECIFICATION WITH MARKINGS TO SHOW CHANGES MADE

Amend the following paragraph:

- [0032] In summary, the following advantages can be determined for the user:
- a server can be provided with all of the necessary configuration data records by plugging in a memory card. A client to be connected is then automatically supplied with the configuration appropriate for its functionality.
  - all of the configurations of a machine are loaded by the engineering system only in the server for the machine, and the configurations are then automatically made available to the requesting ~~requested~~ clients.
  - configurations are loaded in the client, controlled by that client, automatically, using a multiple step method.
  - replacement appliances are started up on the machine; that is to say no manual action is required by the operator, and no engineering system is required to start up the machine. –

Amend the Abstract as per separate sheet enclosed. A clean copy of the Abstract, as amended, is also submitted by separate sheet.